

ANOTHER CLASH RUMOR CURRENT ON THE BORDER

Carranza Troopers Are Reported to Have Clashed With Americans Near Villa Ahumada.

Army Officers Have Not Yet Been Able to Confirm Rumors.

Associated Press Dispatch.
COLUMBUS, N. M., JUNE 26.—REPORT IS CURRENT HERE TODAY THAT ANOTHER ENCOUNTER OF AMERICANS AND CARRANZA TROOPS HAS OCCURRED IN THE VICINITY OF VILLA AHUMADA. ARMY OFFICERS HAVE NOT CONFIRMED IT.

PERSHING MENACED

Associated Press Dispatch.
Ahumada City, Mexico, June 26. Immediately after the evacuation of General Pershing's troops, General Trevino ordered these points and issued orders that any attempt of General Pershing to return south is being forcibly prevented.

ARMY FORCE FACING PERSHING

Conditions Along Line of Mexican Central Railroad Menacing.

Carranza Government Is Concentrating Large Force in an Evident Intent to Hold the Line.

Associated Press Dispatch.
Paso, Texas, June 26.—Carranza troops in northern Chihuahua are being concentrated hastily and are along the line of the Mexican Central Railroad between Juarez and Chihuahua City.

Military men assumed from this report that, in the event of hostilities with the United States, the plan contemplates the release of no efforts to hold the line, the main artery of transportation from the border to the interior.

While Mexican troops are being aligned along the railroad, the reports indicate that General Pershing's expeditionary command, less than 50 miles to the west, has been drawn into a parallel line extending up the Santa Maria valley from El Valle to Columbus, N. M.

Large Mexican forces are being gathered at Villa Ahumada and at Montezuma, while, according to reports here, General Pershing has his largest forces at El Valle and at Colonia Dublan.

Between the two lines, which are each about 200 miles long, both American and Mexican cavalry scouting patrols are operating.

CONDITION IN INTERIOR IS BEYOND WORDS

Refugees From Mexico City State Inhabitants Are Without Clothing or Food.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
El Paso, June 26.—A refugee from Mexico City arriving at the border today said that in northern Durango men and women no longer had clothing to cover themselves and crowd about the trains crying for food, a typical situation in the interior.

Mexican newspapers brought to the border show to what extent the anti-American feeling is growing.

One editorial of the La Reforma, a semi-official paper published at Saltillo, is captioned "Blood," makes a vile attack on the United States, its people and its policies and continues:

"Above all, do not forget that at a time of national need humanity is a crime and frightful horrors are virtues.

"Pull out eyes; snath out hearts; tear open breasts; drink, if you can, the blood in the skulls of the invaders from the cities of Yankeeland."

Agent Rogers Places Latest American Demand in Hands of Carranza.

Washington, June 26.—The American note to General Carranza was delivered today by Special Agent Rogers, according to a message received from his.

There was nothing in the message to indicate how the demand for the release of prisoners or the demand for a declaration of policy by Carranza was received, or when a reply might be expected.

400 MEN RECRUITED ON SUNDAY

Adj. General Hough Well Pleased Over Increased Enlistments.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Columbus, O., June 26.—Approximately 400 recruits were added to the Ohio National Guard over Sunday, according to reports to Adjutant General Hough.

Adjutant General Hough said he had no advices from the War Department, either in regard to the movement of troops or to the effect that equipment necessary to outfit the new recruits had been shipped. He said some recruits would arrive Wednesday.

VILLA SHOT

OHIO TROOPS ROUNDING INTO FINE SHAPE

Movements to Mobilization Camp Will Begin in Earnest

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Columbus, O., June 26.—"Units of the Guard are being recruited and drilled. The mobilization camp is being completed. Equipment is being sent by the War Department. Orders will probably be issued tomorrow evening and the first of the troops will arrive here Wednesday."

This in substance was the way Adjutant General Hough summed up the status of the mobilization of Ohio National Guards today.

Following the example set by the State Civil Service Commission, Secretary Stauffer of the State Board of Agriculture today drafted resolutions, which he will present to the board for ratification, in which it is declared any employee of the board who enlists for service along the border will be guaranteed his position upon his return from service. The vacancies will be temporarily filled.

ANOTHER CHANCE GIVEN FIRST CHIEF TO AVOID WAR

Lansing Demands Release of the 17 Cavalrymen Prisoners, and That the Mexican Government Disclaim Responsibility for Carrizal Fight.

Washington Determined That Carranza Shall Bear Blame if Conflict Comes.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, June 26.—General Carranza had one more chance today to prevent an open break between the United States and Mexico.

Another note, sent him yesterday by Secretary Lansing demands that the seventeen prisoners of the Carrizal battle be released, and that the Mexican government place itself on record immediately concerning its future relations toward the United States.

The communication disclosed that General Carranza had admitted, in a note received by the State Department, issuing orders to General Trevino to attack American forces moving in any direction except toward the border.

In carrying out these orders, the attack at Carrizal occurred; consequently, the American government now considers the de facto government responsible for the attack and gives Carranza final opportunity to change his attitude.

President Wilson arranged last night for a possible joint session of the House and Senate after this week, which he may address after the Carranza reply is received.

A conference of committee chairmen was held this morning, after which Senator Stone said:

"We will never have peace down there until we use force enough to compel it."

Mediation proposed by the Minister of Bolivia and other South American diplomats is not considered seriously.

Large forces of militia, sworn in as United States Regulars, will be on their way to the border within two days and will go on in steadily increasing numbers as the week progresses.

By Friday or Saturday the United States will be in a much better position to strike if it is decided this is the only course open to solve the dispute with Mexico.

The return to General Pershing's line of Captain Morey, commander of the Tenth Cavalry, which participated in the Carrizal fight, and his story of how the Mexicans started the firing strengthened the American Government's attitude in that it has sought to avoid clashes with the Mexican de facto government.

WOOD ORDERS AN IMMEDIATE ENTRAINMENT

Local Company Not in Eastern Department.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
New York, June 26.—Recruits and soldiers without equipment are to be left behind.

General Wood today issued orders to Adjutant Generals of all the states in the Eastern Department instructing them to entrain immediately with available troops.

About 15,000 additional troops of the Department of the East will entrain for the border tomorrow.

The troops of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Wyoming and Utah have been ordered to be entrained en route to the border by tonight.

8 TROOPERS YET MISSING

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Washington, June 26.—In reporting today the rescue of Captain Morey and four troopers, Major Jenkins of the Eleventh Cavalry, heading the relief column, announced that the country near Carrizal had been thoroughly combed and no further survivors of the fight found. Eight men are missing.

GREEK SPY IS SHOT TO DEATH

(Associated Press Cable)
Paris, June 26.—The Greek spy Condoyannis, formerly an actor, was shot at daybreak on May 26 in front of the artillery targets at Vincennes. He was condemned on March 16 for giving the Germans information as to numbers and movements of troops in France, and had since vainly exhausted all means of appeal including that of applying to the president of the Republic.

On the morning of his execution Condoyannis was awakened in his cell at half past two and told that his time had come. He dressed slowly, repeating that he wanted to make further statements, but interrupting himself every now and then to say to the guards "So you insist that I shall be shot."

When dressed, Condoyannis was ordered into a wagon drawn by two horses and was taken on a journey of half an hour's duration to the "butts." Getting out of the wagon he walked, firmly enough, the guards say, to the wooden post at which he was to stand to be shot, but kept constantly exclaiming "I protest, I protest." While he was still protesting the guards began to bandage his eyes, but Condoyannis tore the cloth away saying he would give the order to fire himself.

At this point he began to make a speech. "Brave French soldiers," he got so far but no further—at this moment the officer commanding the firing party lowered his sword and Condoyannis fell pierced by a dozen balls.

SOME CHINESE MAKES GETAWAY

(Associated Press Cable)
Tokio, June 26.—The agitation among the Chinese revolutionaries in Japan was increased by the sensational arrivals here from the United States of the revolutionary leader, General Hwang Hsing, who disappeared mysteriously from the steamer Shinyo Maru before she arrived at Yokohama. About 50 Japanese newspaper reporters were grouped at the Yokohama dock waiting to interview the man who was expected to take an important part in the existing revolutionary movement in South China, but although they searched the vessel from stem to stern they were unable to find him.

Subsequent investigation by the Japanese press led to the conclusion that Hwang Hsing was removed from the Shinyo Maru just before she entered Yokohama Bay by Japanese authorities who came out in a launch.

Garlic In the Milk.
As to milk diluted by the light diet of the cow, what is this compared with the garlic to which any one at breakfast in Italy in spring is subject without warning? The mere tourist is no doubt guarded by a taster in the hotel keeper's service, but the resident may any morning find his milk or his butter or both made impossible by a flavor more rank than any onion. The Italian cow evidently loves the garlic plant and inconsiderately feasts upon it, with consequences overpowering to the senses of man.—London Mirror.

Canada's Buffalo Herd

About thirty years ago a friendly Indian "cut out" from a stampeded herd of buffalo four calves. After having lost their mother the calves, true to buffalo custom, followed obediently the lead of the lone Indian horseman who took them to a monastery located in the heart of the wild Canadian forests.

The youngsters thrived in health and numbers until they became an expense too great for the monastery to meet and within ten years after the friendly Indian had presented the calves to his friends, the Monks, the herd was sold to a speculator who was shrewd enough to see that the buffalo were valuable and that before many years they would be valuable.

The speculator sold a number of buffalo to the menageries throughout the world at fancy prices and later sold the herd to the Canadian government for two hundred thousand dollars.

The government moved the buffalo twelve hundred miles west and turned them loose in the great Alberta country to roam at will. There are now over two thousand buffalo in the herd—the largest in the world—protected by the dominion government and one of the charge of the Northwest mounted police.

Folks who are fond of making "figgers" can, if they choose, calculate just how many that herd will number and how much it will be worth in another decade.

If four buffalo calves grow into a herd of more than two thousand in less than thirty years, worth a quarter of a million dollars, how many buffalo will be numbered in the herd ten years hence.

Those who love to dream of possibilities can allow their imagination to wander a little and see in their fancy, not an impossible condition perhaps, the thunder of tens of thousands of hoofs rolling out of the great northwest of the Alberta country to be followed later by the forms of the stampeded herd as it rushes pell mell across the international boundary line laying waste everything in its path.

At the present rate of increase the great waste plains country may again become the feeding place of the buffalo and the danger zone for those who travel across the wastes.

It is not likely, however, with the settling up of the far west, that the buffalo will ever run riot over the great plains country.

There is, however, a strong possibility that safe and sane hunting laws, "open seasons" for buffalo may be provided by law and the greatest hunting on the western hemisphere be born again through the kind heartedness of a lone Indian and the money-making instinct of a shrewd speculator.

Four Months at Verdun

Although four long months of indescribable horror and suffering have elapsed since the German forces opened the attack on Verdun, the great battle continues with unabated fury.

Long since Verdun has ceased to be of any value as a fortified position. It's forts are literally pounded to atoms and Verdun is no longer of any especial strategic value to either the attacking army or to the defenders.

Should Verdun fall into the hands of the Germans it would be regarded as a victory, but it would be entirely barren of real benefit. Should the Verdun campaign come to an end with the position held by the French the victory, while with the defenders, would be of no practical advantage.

The world is thus driven to conclude that the awful sacrifice of life and treasure that has occurred at Verdun is the result of a political struggle. Germany would, doubtless, be glad to be out of the Verdun inferno which has cost her such a frightful price and victory not yet in sight but for the armies to withdraw unsuccessful in the attempt would be to discredit the army with the people of the nation.

France, but for political reasons, would be much better off to withdraw from the Verdun angle which extends like one of both of a monster saw into the German lines, and leave the shattered ruins to the forces of the Crown Prince, but the effect on the French people would be disastrous in the extreme.

So far as the morale of the contending armies is concerned Verdun taken or Verdun retained means nothing. The troops who have battled incessantly for four long months understand Verdun, its worth and its worthlessness, but they like the commanders, realize the effect at home and bravely fight and die in a battle which means nothing won or lost except for its effect on the public mind.

While Verdun has no real value it bids fair by reason of the political significance that attaches to be one of the turning points in the great war.

Poetry For Today

SUMMER WINDS.

Of all the winds of summertime that blow,
I think the sweetest are the ones that go
At early morn'g tide a down the hill
And up the vale, while yet the world is still—
Bending the tops of trees a bit to pass
And ripple into waves across the grass.

Surely the very spirit of the year,
Incarnate Summer, from the hilltop here,
Had breathed in to the air a lifting song
That gathered sweetness as it passed along!
And out into the valley, unconfined,
Swept on and on till it became a wind!

And sometimes, from a vision-haunted night
I waken at the morning's faintest light,
Or murmur of that gently moving breeze,
Stealing at dawn across the listless trees,
And wander through the forestland, until
I hear the song of Summer from the hill.

GARRICK'S MOBILE FACE

Its Varying Expressions Put Gainsborough in a Fit of Temper.

At an entertainment at which Gainsborough and the famous actor David Garrick were present an ardent admirer of the great artist declared, according to "Bibliothek der Unterhaltung und des Wissens," that Gainsborough had never failed to take a person's likeness in a portrait, no matter how difficult the subject might be. Garrick thereupon asserted that Gainsborough could not paint his likeness and begged to be allowed to sit for his portrait. Gainsborough, pleased at the commission and expecting to find it very interesting to paint the actor's expressive countenance, gladly consented. Garrick then made a secret wager with the artist's friends that he could prove to them that there was one face at least that Gainsborough could not paint.

The results of the first sitting were very satisfactory to the complacent artist. At the second sitting, however, Gainsborough was made uncomfortable and nervous at finding it necessary to make several alterations in his work. At the third sitting his displeasure became extreme when, on comparing the half completed work with Garrick's face, he saw that the two bore so little resemblance to each other that the portrait had almost to be repainted. When Garrick appeared for the fourth time, with the most innocent expression imaginable, and begged the painter to begin work Gainsborough, thoroughly angry, broke out:

"I've no use for you! You can ape thousands of faces and never have one of your own!"

Smiling, Garrick left the studio to announce to the artist's friends that he had won the wager.

WORKS WITH SECRETARY'S AID

In Spite of His Ninety Years H. W. McFadden of Havana, Ill., Attends to Business With Same Vigor That Enabled Him to Build Up One of Largest Estates in County.

Havana, Ill.—H. W. McFadden, who has just returned from a surveying trip to his farms in the eastern part of Mason county, is considered one of the most remarkable business men in this part of the state. Mr. McFadden is ninety years old and is entirely deaf and almost blind. He looks after his business with the same interest and vigor that enabled him to build up one of the largest estates in the county. All his work is done through a secretary, who must copy all of his letters. This is done with a large black marking crayon in letters two inches high. Not only does he read all his mail in this way, but he is also intensely interested in the European war, and all of the war news from the papers must be copied for him.

Mr. McFadden is a native of New York state and came to Illinois when a young man of twenty-two, without any more than a good education and a sound mind and body. He first settled in Peoria, where he served as county surveyor for six years. In 1862 he came to Havana and built the first elevator here. Five years later he established the Mason County bank, the oldest financial institution in the county, of which he is now the president. A short time later he went to Peoria, where he built the Central City elevator, the first elevator to be built in Peoria. Later he established the system of elevators in Cass, Menard and Mason counties now operated by McFadden & Co., of which his sons, G. C. McFadden and B. H. McFadden, have the controlling interest.

From the very first Mr. McFadden had acquired land whenever he had an opportunity to get a good contract. He started while surveyor of Peoria county and now is the owner of about 3,000 acres in Mason county, as well as thousands of acres of the best land in Kansas, located in Coffey county. He also owns a number of store buildings in Havana, three large buildings in Chicago and extensive town and city property in Waverly and Hall's Summit, Kan.

He is one of the most public spirited men in Havana and has been so all his life. He can tell interesting stories of the great political campaigns of the days before the war, when the rival political parties would erect tall poles and have great celebrations around them. Followers of each party in a community would strive to erect a pole taller than the one erected by the rival faction. Poles hundreds of feet high were put up, every man and boy in the community coming out to help.

Again, when the civil war broke out he was a most ardent admirer of the north and tried many times to enlist, but his poor hearing, a family heritage, was against him, and he was refused. Twice he tried to slip into the ranks and go to the front anyway, but he was sent home each time. Nevertheless, he spent large sums of money for the cause in the north and encouraged all able-bodied men to go and fight for the Union.

SAYS SHRINE CURED HER.

Young Woman Who Had Been an Invalid For Years Now Well.

Lima, O.—Kathleen Daugherty, twenty-one years old, for eleven years an invalid and unable to move about except in a wheeled chair, stepped from a train here and was greeted by a crowd of fully fifty persons. She had been cured, it is said, at the shrine of Our Lady of Consolation at Carey during the annual pilgrimage.

Miss Ella McAuliffe, an aged aunt of the girl, was at the depot. She was the first one to greet the young woman. "Auntie, I'm cured!" cried the girl. The aunt, completely overcome, fainted.

The girl had been unable to move a muscle of her body since a mere child, when she was stricken with paralysis. For two years she was partially blind. She made the pilgrimage to Carey with 700 others from Lima and vicinity. She is cured and apparently permanently so. She left her wheeled chair at the shrine in Carey.

RIP IN TROUSERS ANGERS HIM

Didn't Mind Dog Biting Wooden Leg, but Pants Called For Gun Play.

St. Louis, Mo.—When Mrs. Rosie Silberman's dog bit Michael Ehrhardt's leg the other day in East St. Louis Ehrhardt thought the joke was on the dog until he looked down and saw that his trousers were torn.

This made him angry, and he drew his revolver and fired two shots at the dog. Mrs. Silberman had Ehrhardt arrested for discharging firearms in the city limits.

The dog's mistake in selection took place in front of his owner's grocery store, at Sixth street and Piggot avenue. The leg he bit was made of wood.

Pigeons Influenced by Wireless.

Paris.—French scientists have decided that carrier pigeons are influenced by magnetism and that, with the growth of wireless telegraphy, much less dependence can be placed upon them.

Days You'll Never Forget

ICE CREAM

THE DAY YOU WERE ON THE COMMITTEE AT THE HOSE COMPANY'S PICNIC—

WHEN BIRDS MIGRATE.

Yearly Flight of the Wheatear From Africa to Greenland.

In flying from Europe to Africa birds cross the Mediterranean sea at a point where the water is so shallow that it is believed the two continents were formerly connected there. The land bridge, which it is thought formerly guided the birds in their flight, has disappeared, but the habit of crossing at this particular place still remains.

How do you suppose the little wheatear no larger than a bluebird, formed the habit of migrating from Europe to Greenland? Probably he comes by way of England and Iceland, but at the best it is a long journey and seems to take the bird much farther than it is necessary to go. In the autumn he goes back to winter in Africa.

Doubtless some European water birds visit us every year, but the wheatear, so far as I know, is the only land bird which migrates regularly between North America and Africa. With this exception, no North American land birds leave the western hemisphere in their migrations.

The birds of the western United States are not such great travelers as those of the eastern part of our country. Some of them travel only from the higher parts of the Rocky mountains or Sierras, where they nest, to the low, warm valleys in which they winter.

Those that leave the United States go into Mexico. Some continue their journey as far south as Guatemala, but few go farther south than that. They can, therefore, make their journey overland and so do not encounter the dangers to which many of our eastern migrants are exposed.—Frank M. Chapman in St. Nicholas.

The only satisfactory way of preserving cider in its sweet, fresh state is to treat it the same as grape juice is treated.

Take the cider as it comes from the press and gradually heat to a temperature of 170 to 180 degrees. Care should be taken not to heat it to more than 180 degrees, else the flavor will be harmed. After the temperature has been held at that point for fifteen minutes the juice is bottled at once in clean, airtight bottles that have been previously scalded and are hot when the cider is introduced.

Cork with stoppers that can be pushed into the neck of the bottles a little below the neck of the rim and fill the small cavity with paraffin.—Farm and Fireside.

KEEPING UP TO THE MARK.

"Spring fever" is not always a joke. If you feel dull and sluggish, tired and worn out, suffer from backache or weak back rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff joints or other indication of kidney trouble, it will pay you to investigate Foley Kidney Pills. They are highly recommended as prompt and efficient aid to health. Blackmer & Tanquary.

BIG OUTING PARTY IS NOW ON WAY TO ATLANTIC CITY

Twentieth Annual Outing of the Dahl-Campbell Branch Exceeds All Previous Outing Parties—Some 2000 in Entire Party—Royal Reception Accorded Guests at Plant Here.

The twentieth and by far the greatest outing ever given by the Dahl-Campbell Branch is now on its way to Atlantic City, Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia, where customers and consumers of the concern will enjoy a regal outing, with plenty of opportunity of sight-seeing in the stately cities of the East.

The first section of the outing party left this city at 12:15 Monday afternoon and the other section from this place left fifteen minutes later. At Chillicothe the two sections joined the remainder of the party and also the party from the Moneypen-Hammond Branch of the Midland Grocery Company, of Columbus. The total number of persons in the outing reached about the 2,000 mark, and of the number between 1200 and 1300 are from the Dahl-Campbell Branch of the Midland Grocery Company. The party includes more than 125 persons from this city.

Monday morning more than 600 going from this point assembled at the mammoth plant of the firm where salesmen and office force received them and made them at home, showing them throughout the big buildings, and entertaining them in various ways.

Each salesman was dressed for the outing, and wore a black silk cap bearing his name. All employees wore reception badges and each did his or her part to make the visitors welcome.

Comfortable chairs were provided on the first floor, with girls presiding over punch bowls and serving cool refreshments to the guests.

Everywhere about the building the cleanliness of everything, and the large corps of alert employees, dressed in white, took pleasure in showing the visitors about, and serving a most delicious and elaborate luncheon.

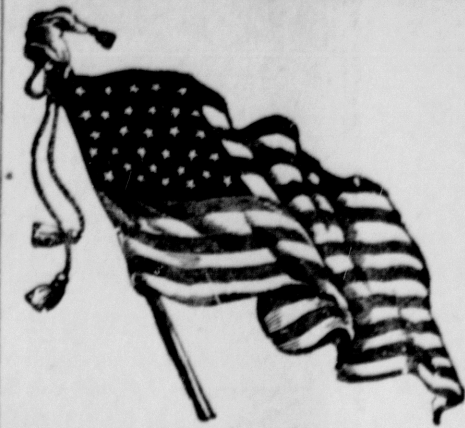

The long tables with snowywhite covers, large vases of fragrant flowers, and tastefully arranged and delicious viands, was decidedly welcome sight to the several hundred guests. This lunch was served by the Company, and Focke's delicious fams, Van Camp's Tuna salad, instantaneous Geo. Washington coffee were among the features of the lunch.

Following the lunch the big party was escorted to the two waiting all-pullman specials, on South Main street, and left promptly at the appointed hour.

Mr. William M. Campbell, who planned and made possible the big outing, is with the company to give his personal attention to the welfare of the party. The salesmen of the company also will give their every attention to insure utmost enjoyment throughout the trip.

The party will return home Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, and a week of rare enjoyment is anticipated by all.

Company M is, judging from some of the recruits, going to make a record for the number of big men enrolled.

Private Caldwell standing straight up six feet and two inches in length is surpassed by the latest addition to the ranks, Guy Huston of Mt. Sterling, who stands 4 1/2 inches above two full yard sticks end on end. In other words Huston is six feet four and one-half inches tall.

Dr. L. P. Howell who made the physical examination of recruit Huston says that he measures up in every way in proportion to his length and is an excellent "good man."

Dr. Howell also states that Company M recruits, all of them, average away up in the physical tests.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC!

The Washington Band will give a Band Concert at the Empire Theatre Wednesday, June 28th, at 8:00 P. M. The ticket plat will be placed on sale at Leland's News Stand Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock. The price of admission will be 25c for any seat in the house.

It has been decided not to make a canvas for sale of tickets before the plat is opened, as a test to see how much the public appreciates the effort to organize a band here that will compare favorably with any in this part of the State, with the object in view of giving weekly open-air concerts during the summer, if a fund can be raised for this purpose.

The Band has succeeded in organizing 25 members for this concert, and has prepared a program that is well worth the price of admission and there are many more good players here that can be secured for the open air concerts if a fund of sufficient size can be raised.

The object of charging for this concert is to raise enough money to pay rent, heat and light and music bills already due, and with which to buy more new and up-to-date music.

The reason other cities can have good bands is because they support them; and whether you believe so or not, it is a fact that Washington C. H. has never supported a band. The band boys have been given to understand that the reason is because they have never organized a good band.

So this year they have made an extra effort and have succeeded in getting together the best band Washington C. H. has ever had, and which will be able to play as well as any band in this part of the State with a little more practice and encouragement.

Now, if you enjoy having weekly open air concerts, and believe them to be a good thing for the town, YOU will do your part to help by coming to the concert Wednesday evening and will contribute to the fund for these concerts that is to be raised later.

The band boys sincerely appreciate what has been done for them in the past, and feel confident that everyone in Washington will do their part this year, and shall endeavor to merit your support.

SEVERELY HURT IN BAD FALL DOWN STAIRS

Photographer A. M. Brown Falls Down an Entire Flight of Stairs Sunday, Cutting His Scalp Severely.

Mr. A. M. Brown, the photographer, was seriously injured Sunday night about 10:00 p. m. by falling down the entire flight of stairs at his home on Hinde street.

Mr. Brown had been lying down reading and started to go into an adjoining room. In passing from the lighted room through the hall which was dark he was unable to see the stairway and made a misstep which plunged him headlong down the stairs. He was picked up unconscious at the bottom of the stairs and remained in that condition about forty-five minutes.

Dr. Ireland responded to a hurry call and dressed the wounds. Six stitches were required to close the cuts on the scalp. The wound was a jagged and irregular one and very hard to close.

Mr. Brown is taking science treatment and is resting easy this morning. No fever or inflammation has set in as yet. However, it will be several days before Mr. Brown will be able to resume his business duties.

TIMER ON EXHIBITION

A tip off of a three inch shell such as are being made by munition factories in Dayton and shipped to the warring nations is on exhibition at the Sanitary Barber Shop in this city.

The tip contains the timer which regulates the time for the explosion of the schrapnel in the shell.

It is attracting much interest among citizens who are not acquainted with the type of shell used in modern warfare. The timer was rejected on account of defective workmanship.

COMPANY "M" MAY DEPART TUESDAY A. M.

Captain Hardway, while not yet officially advised, is expecting orders to move Company M to the mobilization camp at Columbus tomorrow, Tuesday.

The enlistments have now brought the total strength of the company up to ninety-three.

Private McCafferty—who has been missing since the issuance of the call for mobilization, reported this morning. No action has yet been taken in his case.

CHURCH SERVICE FOR GUARDSMEN WELL ATTENDED

Sunday was a day charged with unusual seriousness and feeling. Before the dawn of another Sabbath it was feared that the boys of Company M, O. N. G., would be on their way to service—the appalling service that is demanded when patriotism calls to the battlefield—and the whole town awakened to the stress of conditions.

Tinged with both pathos and patriotism was the sight which presented itself as Company M marched down the main streets to the Presbyterian church for a special evening service in their honor. The "boys of '61," with a deeper realization of what the call to arms meant, acted as escort.

Company M was seated in the center of the auditorium in front of a huge flag which extended across the pulpit platform.

Patriotic songs rose in splendid volume as the audience joined with the choir and there were short addresses by Chaplain Nier and Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage.

Chaplain Nier impressed the solemnity of present conditions and drew his own experience in a brief and most heartsome little talk to the boys.

Rev. Gage dwelt specially on the dangers of camp life and the subtle enemies found there; urging the men in khaki seated before him to be true, stalwart men, as well as soldiers.

Mr. Jaques, an Assembly Singer, sang: "Church in the Valley," the audience joining in the chorus—the number a touching one.

It was an effective scene when Rev. Gage, on behalf of the session, presented each member of the company a testament.

Second Lieutenant Curtiss made appreciative response for the boys. The church was crowded.

Sunday morning Company M attended divine services at Grace M. E. church.

Second Lieutenant Curtiss addressed the Men's Class and so great was the interest that the basement proved inadequate and all adult classes came together in the church auditorium to enjoy the speaker's excellent talk. Just a year ago Lieutenant Curtiss had come up from Greenfield with the Men's Class and spoken under very different circumstances. He mingled with the lesson review the lesson of the present need. It was not a question of "wanting to go" with the boys; it was the necessity which demanded response to the defense of the nation.

At half past ten o'clock the National Guards were seated in the center of the auditorium to listen to a fine address by Rev. J. A. Rutledge D. D. of Cleveland.

The dominant theme of the address was that the church possessed the key which unlocks everything fundamental in the great moral issues of civilization.

Miss Edith Gardner sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and the great audience rose to swell the chorus till it rang gloriously through the church.

The morning's temperance collection was $125.

Rev. John Rutledge D. D., a brother, preached a splendid sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and also addressed the Men's Bible Class of the Sunday school in his own inimitable way.

The day's subject of temperance fitted in well with the special interest of the nation's crisis—the fight along temperance lines being waged continuously and with the same zeal called forth by the throes of the nation.

In Social Circles

As a parting favor to the guests of Misses Lillian Davis and Dorothy Fullerton, Mr. Virgil Perrill entertained with an old fashioned barn dance at the beautiful country home of the Perrills on the Devalon Road Saturday evening.

Although this unique party was a departure from the customary form of diversion in Washington social circles, the guests entered with zest into the spirit of the affair. Miss Ada Woodward and Mr. Burris Tharp led the "Virginia Reel," in which all participated with great hilarity. The original barn dance was another feature of the evening.

The spacious hayloft in which the dance was given was decorated with American flags and the lighting system was a number of auto lamps in the different corners of the room, producing a weird spotlight effect on the dancers below.

The music, played with a "gergy dance" swing, by a group of wandering artists, characteristically of "the old school," had a distinct rural flavor. The interpretation of "The Irish Washerwoman," "Turkey in the Straw" and "Dixie" will be long remembered by the Terpsichorean repellers.

Brick ice-cream and home made angel cake, bountifully served, were welcome refreshments to the guests who found that strenuous barn dancing produced a "harvest hand's" appetite.

Mr. and Mrs. James Perrill and Mrs. John Shoop (nee Miss Ruth Perrill, of Chicago, assisted in the serving.

The lively chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ireland, contributed much to the success of the dancing party.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hughes, and baby, of Madison Mills, Mr. Bert Chaffin and son Carl, were guests at an enjoyable dinner entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George Sturgeon, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Val McCoy and Mr. Howard Heglar entertained at a family dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Marion Gibson of Springfield; Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mr. Roy Hagler and family, Miss Mary Robinson, Mr. Arthur Staubus.

There was a most delightful gathering of friends and neighbors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kearney on the Chillicothe pike, Sunday to surprise Mrs. Kearney upon her 69th birthday.

Everybody brought well filled baskets and the picnic spread was in a class by itself, with everything in the line of picnic delicacies included.

Mrs. Kearney thoroughly appreciated the good wishes and interest of so many friends.

Miss Helen Lemons gave several entertaining readings during the afternoon.

Lansing Sends Sharp Note to Mexico City.

TO SOUND OUT CARRANZA

Secretary Would Have Head of De Facto Government Make Known the Course of Action He Has Determined Upon—First Chief in Note to Washington Assumes Full Responsibility For Attack at Carrizal.

Washington, June 26.—Communications exchanged between the American and Mexican governments have been made public by Secretary of State Lansing. The outstanding features are the assumption by Carranza of full responsibility for the attack on American forces at Carrizal and the demand by Washington for the immediate release of the American troops captured in the engagement, with a further demand for an early statement from Carranza as to the course of action he has determined upon.

Representative of the Latin-American republic in Washington are conferring with a view to preparing a combined proposal for mediation as a means of preventing a break. The Mexican embassy has been unofficially advised that General Carranza has accepted "in principle" a tentative proposal to this and received by him from other Latin-American republics. The United States is still to be approached formally on the subject. Officials here intimate that the proposal would be rejected.

The course followed up to this time compels the conclusion that the administration, finding its hands more or less tied by the slowness with which the national guard is mobilizing for muster, is endeavoring to play for time. This was indicated in signal fashion in the reply sent to the Carranza note accepting full responsibility for the Carrizal affair.

At the receipt of the reply Secretary Lansing instructed James Linn Rodgers, special representative of the United States at Mexico City, to inform the Mexican foreign office that "the government of the United States can put no other construction on the Carranza communication, other than it was intended for a formal avowal of deliberately hostile action against the forces of the United States now in Mexico."

Then, after demanding the release of the prisoners held at Chihuahua, Secretary Lansing directs Mr. Rodgers to inform the Mexican foreign office that "the government of the United States expects an early statement from your government as to the course of action it has determined upon, and that it also expects that this statement be made through the usual diplomatic channels, and not through subordinate military commanders."

There is no suggestion in the American communication as to the course of action the United States has determined upon in view of Carranza's admission of responsibility for the attack on the American troops.

Inasmuch as any aggressive action determined upon would require the release of all the regular army forces now held on the border for use in Mexico, no move can be initiated until a sufficient number of national guardsmen is sent to take up the border patrol work. While this serious aspect of the problem is believed to be the occasion in great measure for the hesitation of the president, the possibility that Carranza may at any time order his forces to attack Pershing is becoming a matter of growing concern to army officers, particularly in view of the persistent reports that General Trevino, the Mexican commander, is concentrating a force of 30,000 at points commanding Pershing's headquarters and line of communications.

Unofficial reports reached here that Pershing's main force was engaged in battle with a Carranza army.

It developed that Secretary Baker has sent out urgent orders to the departmental commanders to redouble their efforts to muster in the national guard and to rush organizations to the border as rapidly as possible. The department was informed that the militia of Kansas, Missouri and California were mustered in Saturday.

San Antonio, Tex., June 26.—Mrs. Lewis S. Morey, wife of Captain Morey, received a wireless message from her husband somewhere in Mexico saying he was safe and back in the American lines.

CAPTAIN'S STORY

(By American Press)
San Antonio, Tex., June 26.—General Funston received a report from General Pershing stating he had received a letter from Captain Lewis Morey, stating the Mexicans fired first at Carrizal. Captain Morey wrote from a cave, where he hid with several unwounded. Three troopers brought in the message. Morey was so severely wounded, the men said after they had reached General Pershing, that after they had carried him two miles from the cave Captain Morey ordered them to leave him on the desert to die of his wounds and thirst. They believed him dying and obeyed.

"My mother is in her eighty-third year," said Colonel Green. "She suffered a slight stroke a month ago, but she has been getting along nicely. She was out for an automobile ride on Thursday, and perhaps she caught a cold then."

HUGHES IN FAVOR WITH T. R.

Roosevelt Sends Message to Progressive Committee.

ATTACKS ADMINISTRATION

Colonel in His Letter Gives His Reasons For Declining the Progressive Nomination For the Presidency. Makes Another Attack On the German-American Alliances in the United States.

Chicago, June 26.—In a letter to the Progressive national committee, which met here today, former President Roosevelt gave his reasons for declining the Progressive nomination for president. The features of the letter are the writer's expressed adherence to Progressive principles, the condemnation of the Wilson administration and endorsement of Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee for president. Mr. Roosevelt also took occasion to rap the German-American alliance.

The Progressive committeemen are in session to act on the declination of Roosevelt to head the national ticket.

George W. Perkins, chairman of the national convention; John M. Parker of New Orleans, the vice presidential nominee; John W. McGrath, Colonel Roosevelt's secretary; Matthew Hale of Massachusetts; L. O. Engen of North Dakota; William Flinn of Pittsburgh; Dr. E. M. Harris of Rhode Island and groups of others from the east and south are attending the meeting.

Mr. Roosevelt in his letter said:

The platform put forth in 1912 was much the most important public document promulgated in this country since the death of Abraham Lincoln. No finer effort was ever made to serve the American people, in a spirit of high loyalty to all that is loftiest in the American tradition. With all my heart I shall continue to work for these great ideals, shoulder to shoulder with the men and women who in 1912 championed them. Much has been accomplished in awakening the public to a better understanding of the problems of social and industrial welfare. Yet it has become entirely evident that the people under existing conditions are not prepared to accept a new party.

It is impossible for us Progressives to abandon our convictions. But we are faced with the fact that as things actually are the Progressive national organization no longer offers the means whereby we can make these convictions effective in our national life. Under such circumstances, our duty is to do the best we can, and not to sulk because our leadership is rejected.

Indorses Hughes.

In my judgment, the nomination of Mr. Hughes meets the conditions set forth in the statement of the Progressive national committee, issued last January, and in my own statements. Under existing conditions, the nomination of a third ticket would, in my judgment, be merely a move in the interest of the election of Mr. Wilson. I regard Mr. Hughes as a man whose public record is a guarantee that he will not merely stand for a program of clean-cut, straight-out Americanism before election, but will resolutely and in good faith put it through if elected. He is beyond all comparison better fitted to be president than Mr. Wilson. It would be a grave detriment to the country to re-elect Mr. Wilson. I shall, therefore, strongly support Mr. Hughes.

It is urged against Mr. Hughes that he was supported by the various so-called German-American alliances. I believe that the attitude of these professional German-American alliances, which have in the past been the antagonism to me, they were bound to defeat me for nomination. I need hardly repeat what I have already said in stern repudiation of these professional German-American alliances, and the similar bodies, which have, in the pre-nomination campaign, played not merely an un-American, but a thoroughly anti-American part.

Mr. Hughes' character and his whole course of conduct in public affairs justify us in the assured conviction that the fact that these men have for their own purposes supported him will, in no shape or way, affect his public actions before or after election. His entire public life is a guarantee of this.

Mr. Roosevelt then attacks the Democratic administration's foreign policies. He charged the administration had been guilty of shortcomings "more signal than those of any administration since the days of Buchanan." He assailed Wilson's attitude in both the European war and the Mexican troubles, alleging feebleness on the part of the president.

The colonel expresses opposition to a third party ticket at this time and adds:

I do not believe that Mr. Hughes would have been nominated if it had not been for the fight on behalf of public decency and efficiency which the Progressive party has waged during the past four years. Mr. Wilson has been tried and found wanting. Mr. Hughes has shown in his career the instinct of efficiency which will guarantee that, under him, the government will once more work with vigor and force.

CALL IS LIKELY FOR THIS WEEK

President Will Not Discuss Mediation Proposal.

Washington, June 26.—President Wilson had a lengthy conference with Chairman Stone of the senate committee on foreign relations and Chairman Flood of the house committee on foreign affairs. He gave the congress leaders a complete description of the Mexican crisis and outlined the course which the government may be expected to follow in the next few days. The salient points in the president's policy are:

The United States will not discuss proposals for mediation of the difficulties between the United States and Mexico so long as the relations between the two republics remain in their present status. The president considers affairs have reached the stage where the honor and dignity of the United States are widely involved.

The president does not intend to go before congress before a declaration of war appears to be next logical step for this government. He considers that he has acted entirely within the limitations of his executive prerogatives in making the unconditional demand upon Carranza for the release of the seventeen soldiers imprisoned at Chihuahua City. He will ask authority of congress to call for an adequate number of volunteers as soon as diplomatic means of keeping the peace with Mexico have been exhausted. Many officials believe that this eventuality will have to be faced before the week-end and they have every reason to believe that the president is mentally prepared for it.

SENDING A MAN BY MAIL

It Is Quite Possible Under British Parcel Post Rules.

The parcel post has made its usefulness felt in many ways, unexpected as well as foreseen. But the English parcel post does one surprising thing that has not yet been introduced into our own system.

An Englishman wished to reach a customer living in a remote part of Balham, one of the suburbs of London, and it was very necessary that he find him quickly. Knowing nothing of the district, he called at the general post-office at St. Martin's-le-Grand to consult a directory. On explaining his case to a clerk he was amazed to learn that he could be sent to the address by parcel post by paying a fee of threepence a mile.

The gentleman had never heard of such a thing, and it is said that very few persons in England know that it can be done. He was placed in charge of a messenger who was familiar with all parts of the city and was soon on his way. The boy carried a printed slip on which was written a description of the "parcel" in charge under the heading "Article Required to Be Delivered," and before leaving the customer's house both the customer and the gentleman had to put their signatures on the paper.

The limit in weight for anything delivered by parcel post in England is generally understood to be eleven pounds, but there is one clause that reads, "A person may be conducted by express messenger to any address on payment of the mileage fee."—Youth's Companion.

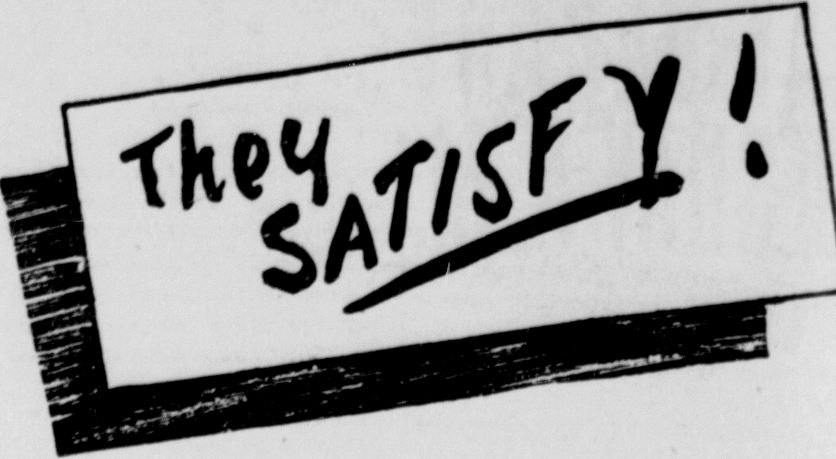

THE NORTHEAST PASSAGE.

Only Two Expeditions Succeeded in Getting Through It.

Most attempts of European countries to find a comparatively short passage from the Atlantic to oriental countries were by way of the northwest passage, north of America, because, having first tried the northeast passage, north of Europe and Asia, and in every instance having met with dire failure, they concentrated attention upon the northwest passage as probably more feasible.

Practically all the arctic expeditions from Sir John Ross to Sir John Franklin were fitted out most of all to find the northwest passage. The passage was found during the search for the lost party of Sir John Franklin, but it was never traversed by a ship till Amundsen took his little boat, the Gjoa, through it in August, 1905.

The attempts to make the northeast passage began with the hardy Dutch sailor Barents in 1595, whose party was the first to spend the dark winter night in the arctic "in most greates cold and extreme miserie." The only achievement of the northeast passage prior to Vilkitski's success in 1914-15 was by Baron A. E. Nordenskjold, who sailed from Tromsøe with his Swedish expedition in June, 1878, triumphed over the great obstacle of Cape Chelruskin and was within 120 miles of Bering strait when winter closed upon him. He entered Bering strait in July, 1879, thirteen months from the time he sailed.—Cyrus C. Adams in New York Times.

London, June 26.—The whole of the Austrian province of Bukowina is now in the hands of the Russians, according to a Petrograd dispatch.

The Austro-Hungarian forces are said to be making their way toward the Carpathian passes.

Kimpolung, in the southern part of Bukowina, has been occupied by the Russians and the Austrians have fallen back between that town and Jukobeny and to the northwest have evacuated the heights south of Betsmetti and Wiznic.

Along the River Pruth, in their drive toward Kolomea, the Russians have captured Willschiff and Touloumoff. The Austrians lost heavily in men taken prisoners and in war stores left behind in the retreat.

In Volhynia Petrograd records the capture of a redoubt near Czartorysk, the repulse of attacks southwest of Lutsk and an advance north of Radziviloff, while Berlin reports the putting down of Russian attacks to the east of Vladimir-Volynski and west of Dubno. Heavy fighting continues throughout this entire region.

The French, during attacks Saturday night, recaptured from the Germans trenches west of the Thiaumont redoubt northeast of Verdun and also made some progress in the village of Fleury, according to the war office communication.

The bombardment on both sides of the Meuse continued without interruption. There also was pronounced artillery activity between the British and Germans on the British portion of the Franco-Belgian line.

In the Posina region and south of Arsiero, in the Austro-Italian theater, the Italians have attacked and driven back the Austrians at several points. In the Adige and Brenta sectors the Austrians again have increased in volume their artillery fire.

In fighting between the Turks and Russians the Ottoman forces drove out the Russians from a convent in the region of Djivizlyk, but later were compelled, under a violent counter attack to withdraw.

State Troops Building Pontoon Bridges

Regular army tactics are followed by the national guard in building pontoon bridges. This is an important feature of warfare, particularly with an invading army in a country such as Mexico.

SEE WORK WRONG

Suffrage, Red Cross and Settlement Adherents Toil, She Says.

DEBUTANTE UNDER ILLUSION.

Miss Josephine Miller, Who, With Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Established Red Cross Service in France, Finds Women Nobler Than She Thought. Sights Inspired Her.

St. Louis.—There are scores of things a woman can do these days that sound like poetry and work like prose. There's New York settlement service that Fifth Avenue bridge players love to think would be "perfectly fascinating;" there's Red Cross service that suggests "reams of romance" for the debutante; there's the old reliable woman's suffrage, and it, you know, is a "wonderful cause."

But, take it from a woman who has done all of these things, the fascination, the romance and the wonder lose their glamour when it comes right down to the everyday hard work.

Miss Josephine Miller, who returned from the Ambulance American in Paris to represent the Arkansas Equal Suffrage league at the recent Democratic national convention, has forgotten to look for romance—she's busy loving women.

Miss Miller spent a year in New York social settlement work and found that the women of the east side were real women, and she learned to love them for their courage. Last September she

Mrs. HARRY PAYNE WHITNEY, sailed with Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, daughter of Cornelius Vanderbilt, to establish Red Cross service in France. She was impressed with the woman's side of war. When she returned last month it was the woman's side of politics that caught her enthusiasm. And, though she is in her early twenties, she's the right hand bower of the woman's cause in Arkansas.

"I always believed Joan of Arc was a fairy tale," she said. "I always believed it was impossible for a woman to inspire men and to lead an army. But when I saw those women of France, working in the fields, running the trains, keeping the shops—when I stood on the battlefield of the Marne and saw them plowing and sowing seed among the graves of their husbands and sons I saw something finer in women, something nobler than I had ever dreamed of. They seemed to be all daughters of Joan of Arc, who in their weeds of black were leading a greater army to their faith and optimism."

When Miss Miller, with Mrs. Whitney, came to France they chose as the only available location for their ambulance an old monastery of the eleventh century. They put hot water and electricity into the monastery with its eleven foot walls; they transformed the old ruins into a modern hospital which relieved the suffering of 500 soldiers. They worked from sunup to sundown and forgot the romance as well as the horrors.

With the Vanderbilt resources they hired servants from deserted hotels and gave service and conveniences to the wounded which were not found, perhaps, elsewhere in France. They cared for the soldiers, made friends with them and nursed them back to health. Some of Miss Miller's most interesting reminiscences center about the private soldiers who are willing to give everything to their country. Many of them write letters back to the Ambulance expressing their appreciation of the kindness of the American women.

Miss Miller came back last fall, and she has been doing some live things in the suffrage work, national as well as local.

10,000 BEES LOOSE IN WOMEN'S BALLROOM

Apiarist Turns Out Swarm Before Club Members, but No Stings Follow.

Cleveland, O.—In the nursery story the queen sat in the parlor eating bread and honey, but even Mother Goose never saw 10,000 bees loose in a ballroom.

But the latter sight was seen recently when Ernest R. Root of Medina, bee and honey expert, shook out a swarm of bees into the white and gold ballroom of the Woman's club, this city, to show members of the club how easily the little honey makers may be handled if one knows how.

There were swift glances toward the door when Mr. Root proposed to open the little case that held the bees. "Don't be in the least afraid. They will not sting you even if they should happen to light on you," promised Mr. Root.

He scooped up a handful of the bees out of the thick, moving brown mass, put them in his hat, clapped his hat on his head and went on with his talk.

CATTLE FEAR DOG.

Herd Ran Over a Horse and Buggy In Their Terror.

Arlington, Ky.—E. W. Benson of Bardwell had a novel experience the other day. While driving along the road out of Barlow, Mr. Benson saw a herd of yearlings ahead of him turn into a lane. In a few seconds he also noticed a dog sneaking in the direction of the cattle.

The dog made a dive for the herd, and they made a run for the road, arriving there just as Mr. Benson drove up, and the cattle ran over the horse and buggy, knocked the horse down and came near turning the buggy over. In their mad haste to get away from the dog one of the calves fell, going under the buggy. Mr. Benson says this is the first time he was ever run over by a herd of cattle.

Why He Preferred It.

"Well, how do you like my new gown?"

"Not nearly so well as your old one, my dear."

"What is there about the old gown you like better than this?"

"The old one is paid for, my dear."—Detroit Free Press.

TWO BEDS REQUIRED FOR A GIANT BOY OF 13

Prisoner Measuring Six Feet Four Was Cause of Worry to New York Children's Society.

New York.—Children's society officials had all kinds of trouble with fifteen-year-old Theodore Olsen, who stands six feet four inches in his socks. This young giant had not been able to find a bed in the place that would fit him. He had been sleeping in two beds placed together, with the cover pieces out. Subterfuge had been discovered to make Theodore fit one of the children's bathtubs or to find one to fit him.

Olsen was arrested after he had called the janitor of an apartment house here to help him extinguish a blaze that he admits he started in the dumb-waiter shaft. He says he had started five similar fires in the upper west side, but had always extinguished them himself, because his desire was not to see the engines dash by, but just to see the blaze.

Theodore left school because of the embarrassment caused by his abnormal size. He became a delivery boy for a grocer, and he says that after delivering an order on the dumbwaiter he would start a blaze at the bottom of the shaft among the old papers and other waste that he frequently found there. Theodore lives with his parents in this city.

MAY BOYCOTT A DEADBEAT.

Merchants of Topeka, Kan., Plan to Organize For That Purpose.

Topeka, Kan.—Attorney General S. M. Brewster has announced a ruling that the merchants of a city or the state could form a trust or order a boycott against the deadbeat. The Topeka merchants have worked out a scheme whereby each merchant is to make a report monthly of his customers who do not pay regularly or have not satisfactorily adjusted their accounts.

These reports are then to be forwarded to every other merchant in the local association, and they are to refuse credit to any of those on the blacklist.

There are some lawyers who have held that the merchants could not form an association to boycott the deadbeat without violating the anti-trust laws. The plan of the Topeka organization was submitted to the attorney general, and he has advised the merchants that such an organization would be legal.

The Difficulty.

"My wife's mad with me and has gone on a hunger strike."

"Then let her go hungry till she comes to her senses. Why should you worry?"

"Because I'm the one that's going hungry."—Baltimore American.

BLANCHESTER THE WINNER IN CLOSE GAME

Local Team, With Shifted Line-up Plays Visitors a Close Eleven Inning Game and Then Lost Because Old Tough Luck Looked In.

A good sized crowd journeyed to Athletic Park Sunday afternoon and witnessed a fast ball game with the local team holding the short end of a 3 to 1 contest (11 innings) with Blancheater.

Both Snow, for the locals, and Moon for the visitors, on the hurling mound, did excellent work, both going the entire eleven frames.

In the seventh inning Snow retired the side on strikes.

The Blancheater bunch is gathered up over a wide radius of territory and is the pick of the talent available. They are a fast and "neady" bunch. The few errors made by the locals were costly.

The Athletics scored the first run in the fourth. Grandle, first up, singled. Noon sent a long fly to right, Grandle going to second. Frantz singled sharply past short, scoring Grandle with the sole run of the game for the home team.

The visitors tied it up in the fifth. Hudson, first up, singled. Whittier hit to the infield, a fumble by Snow left both runners safe with Hudson on second. Boles singled scoring Hudson.

There was nothing doing then until the 11th and the blow-off came like this.

Ross, first up, slammed a long one to center which A. Grandle after a hard run touched but couldn't hold Ross pulling up at second.

Turner then made an infield hit landing safe on first. Ross taking third.

The infield then moved up close and Turner was out at second trying to steal.

Roudebush singled past short scoring Ross, "Roudy" taking second on the field in. Hudson then singled to left which Noon had difficulty in fielding while "Roudy" scored from second. Art Grandle then retired the side by two brilliant catches in center.

It was a good game to see and a tough one to lose.

The visitors out hit the locals by one bingle. Sensational fielding cut off several scores. Roudebush robbed Frantz of a clean home run by one of the most sensational catches ever made.

The local line-up was shifted by inability of "Nip" Jones to play. Adams, of right, was moved to second and substitute catcher Allen went to right field.

But no alibi is necessary. Jones was missed but the boys put up a fine game.

EMPIRE ONE WEEK STARTING TONIGHT

The Darling Daisies Musical Comedy Company which opens at the Empire Theater tonight is promised to be one of the best shows booked here this season, their opening show, "Adolph and Rudolph in London," is a scream from start to finish. Special scenery and lighting effects are carried and a treat for those that enjoy good singing for this company as a charming Loubretts in Pearl Derby, whose singing always sets the boys whistling most of the songs the show uses. Good comedy is also in vogue by Gibson & Howard, these two clever comedians put their material over with a swing and pep, which gets the house, from the rise of the curtain without resorting to smut or any objectional remarks which is so often used. The show is for ladies as well as the gents and for those that like wooden shoe dancing a big treat is in store. Also lovers of Mystic for the Mystic Dunbars have a show which is well worth the admission alone. See the great added attraction then tell your friends. Also 3 reels of good pictures. Advt.

AUSTRIANS ABANDON OFFENSIVE

Verdun Fight Is Regarded as in Crucial Stage—New Assaults Made Last Night.

By Associated Press Dispatch.
The Austrians have definitely abandoned their offensive in the southern Tyrol and are falling back according to today's report with the Italians in vigorous pursuit.

The Verdun battle is now at a crucial stage and was continued last night with new assaults by the Germans west of Thiaumont.

The French artillery and infantry fire completely stopped the attempt of the Germans to advance.

Probably preparatory to an effort to bring their lines west of the Meuse up to the east bank, the Germans are vigorously bombarding French positions in the former sector.

Eight English vessels of light craft are reported to have been sunk in the last ten hours.

ERECT DEFENSES

By Associated Press Dispatch.
Naco, Arizona, June 26.—United States soldiers are engaged in the erection of a line of breastworks in a northeasterly direction near the border from the United States immigration office.

This action was taken following the receipt of reports considered authentic that 1500 Mexican troops have arrived within a few miles of Naco, Sonora.

The American defenses are being constructed of sand bags.

EMPIRE STATE BOYS LEAVE

The nature of the defense is carefully guarded, but it is denied that Sir Roger will throw himself on the mercy of the court.

Warren, O., June 26.—Two men, driving a stolen automobile loaded with stolen tires, are believed to be hiding in a barn in the outskirts of Ravenna today, after shooting Policeman Strock early this morning and staging two revolver battles with farmers in the woods near Ravenna and with officers on the main street of the town.

Poses formed by the sheriffs of Trumbull and Portage counties have surrounded the place in an attempt to capture the fugitives.

MEXICANS SEEK POINTS OF DEFENSE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

San Antonio, Texas, June 26.—News reaching army headquarters today indicates that the Mexican forces along the Rio Grande from Matamoros to Juarez either have withdrawn their main strength from the border or are preparing to do so.

It is also indicated that these troops are taking stations at strategic points along a line well south of the border, railroad junctions allowing of the rapid handling of troops or where the topography of the country permits strong defense.

ANOTHER CLASH RUMOR CURRENT ON THE BORDER

Carranza Troopers Are Reported to Have Clashed With Americans Near Villa Ahumada.

Army Officers Have Not Yet Been Able to Confirm Rumors.

Associated Press Dispatch.

COLUMBUS, N. M., JUNE 26.—

REPORT IS CURRENT HERE TODAY THAT ANOTHER ENCOUNTER OF AMERICANS AND CARRANZA TROOPS HAS OCCURRED IN THE VICINITY OF VILLAHUAMADA. ARMY OFFICERS HAVE NOT CONFIRMED IT.

PERSHING MENACED

Associated Press Dispatch.

Chihuahua City, Mexico, June 26. Immediately after the evacuation of Santa Geronimo and Bachinaba by American troops, General Trevino occupied these points and issued orders that any attempt of General Pershing to return south is to be forcibly prevented.

BIG FORCE FACING PERSHING

Conditions Along Line of Mexican Central Railroad Menacing.

Carranza Government Is Concentrating Large Force in an Evident Intent to Hold the Line.

Associated Press Dispatch.

Paso, Texas, June 26.—Carranza troops in northern Chihuahua are being concentrated hastily and being sent along the line of the Mexican Central Railroad between Juarez and Chihuahua City.

Army men assumed from this report that, in the event of hostilities with the United States, the plan contemplates the release of no efforts to hold the main artery of transportation from the border to the interior.

While Mexican troops are being aligned along the railroad, the reports indicate that General Pershing's expeditionary command, less than 50 miles to the west, has been drawn into a parallel line extending up the Santa Maria valley from El Valle to Columbus, N. M.

Large Mexican forces are being gathered at Villa Ahumada and at Montezuma, while, according to reports here, General Pershing has his largest forces at El Valle and at Colonia Dublan.

Between the two lines, which are each about 200 miles long, both American and Mexican cavalry scouting patrols are operating.

CONDITION IN INTERIOR IS BEYOND WORDS

Refugees From Mexico City State Inhabitants Are Without Clothing or Food.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

El Paso, June 26.—A refugee from Mexico City arriving at the border today said that in northern Durango men and women no longer had clothing to cover themselves and crowd about the trains crying for food, a typical situation in the interior.

Mexican newspapers brought to the border show to what extent the anti-American feeling is growing.

One editorial of the La Reforma, a semi-official paper published at Saltillo, is captioned "Blood," makes a vile attack on the United States, its people and its policies and continues:

"Above all, do not forget that at a time of national need humanity is a crime and frightful horrors are virtues.

"Pull out eyes; snath out hearts; tear open breasts; drink, if you can, the blood in the skulls of the invaders from the cities of Yankeeland."

ANOTHER CHANCE GIVEN FIRST CHIEF TO AVOID WAR

Lansing Demands Release of the 17 Cavalrymen Prisoners, and That the Mexican Government Disclaim Responsibility for Carrizal Fight.

Washington Determined That Carranza Shall Bear Blame if Conflict Comes.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, June 26.—General Carranza had one more chance today to prevent an open break between the United States and Mexico.

Another note, sent him yesterday by Secretary Lansing demands that the seventeen prisoners of the Carrizal battle be released, and that the Mexican government place itself on record immediately concerning its future relations toward the United States.

The communication disclosed that General Carranza had admitted, in a note received by the State Department, issuing orders to General Trevino to attack American forces moving in any direction except toward the border.

In carrying out these orders, the attack at Carrizal occurred; consequently, the American government now considers the de facto government responsible for the attack and gives Carranza final opportunity to change his attitude.

President Wilson arranged last night for a possible joint session of the House and Senate after this week, which he may address after the Carranza reply is received.

A conference of committee chairmen was held this morning, after which Senator Stone said:

"We will never have peace down there until we use force enough to compel it."

Mediation proposed by the Minister of Bolivia and other South American diplomats is not considered seriously.

Large forces of militia, sworn in as United States Regulars, will be on their way to the border within two days and will go on in steadily increasing numbers as the week progresses.

By Friday or Saturday the United States will be in a much better position to strike if it is decided this is the only course open to solve the dispute with Mexico.

The return to General Pershing's line of Captain Morey, commander of the Tenth Cavalry, which participated in the Carrizal fight, and his story of how the Mexicans started the firing strengthened the American Government's attitude in that it has sought to avoid clashes with the Mexican de facto government.

About 15,000 additional troops of the Department of the East will entrain for the border tomorrow.

The troops of New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Wyoming and Utah have been ordered to be entrained en route to the border by tonight.

8 TROOPERS YET MISSING

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Washington, June 26.—In reporting today the rescue of Captain Morey and four troopers, Major Jenkins of the Eleventh Cavalry, heading the relief column, announced that the country near Carrizal had been thoroughly combed and no further survivors of the fight found. Eight men are missing.

GREEK SPY IS SHOT TO DEATH

(Associated Press Cable)

Paris, June 26.—The Greek spy Condoyannis, formerly an actor, was shot at daybreak on May 26 in front of the artillery targets at Vincennes. He was condemned on March 16 for giving the Germans information as to numbers and movements of troops in France, and had since vainly exhausted all means of appeal including that of applying to the president of the Republic.

On the morning of his execution Condoyannis was awakened in his cell at half past two and told that his time had come. He dressed slowly, repeating that he wanted to make further statements, but interrupting himself every now and then to say to the guards "So you insist that I shall be shot."

When dressed, Condoyannis was ordered into a wagon drawn by two horses and was taken on a journey of half an hour's duration to the "butts." Getting out of the wagon he walked, firmly enough, the guards say, to the wooden post at which he was to stand to be shot, but kept constantly exclaiming "I protest, I protest." While he was still protesting the guards began to bandage his eyes, but Condoyannis tore the cloth away saying he would give the order to fire himself.

At this point he began to make a speech. "Brave French soldiers—," He got so far but no further—at this moment the officer commanding the firing party lowered his sword and Condoyannis fell pierced by a dozen balls.

SOME CHINESE MAKES GETAWAY

(Associated Press Cable)

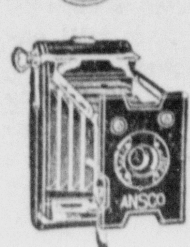

Tokio, June 26.—The agitation among the Chinese revolutionaries in Japan was increased by the sensational arrivals here from the United States of the revolutionary leader, General Hwang Hsing, who disappeared mysteriously from the steamer Shinyo Maru before she arrived at Yokohama. About 50 Japanese newspaper reporters were grouped at the Yokohama dock waiting to interview the man who was expected to take an important part in the existing revolutionary movement in South China, but although they searched the vessel from stem to stern they were unable to find him.

Subsequent investigation by the Japanese press led to the conclusion that Hwang Hsing was removed from the Shinyo Maru just before she entered Yokohama Bay by Japanese authorities who came out in a launch.

Garlic In the Milk.

As to milk diluted by the light diet of the cow, what is this compared with the garlic to which any one at breakfast in Italy in spring is subject without warning? The mere tourist is no doubt guarded by a taster in the hotel keeper's service, but the resident may any morning find his milk or his butter or both made impossible by a flavor more rank than any onion. The Italian cow evidently loves the garlic plant and inconsiderately feasts upon it, with consequences overpowering to the senses of man.—London Mirror.

Poetry For Today

SUMMER WINDS.
Of all the winds of summertime that blow,
I think the sweetest are the ones that go
At early morn'g tide a down the hill
And up the vale, while yet the world is still—
Bending the tops of trees a bit to pass
And ripple into waves across the grass.
Surely the very spirit of the year,
Incarnate Summer, from the hilltop here,
Had breathed in to the air a lifting song
That gathered sweetness as it passed along!
And out into the valley, unconfined,
Swept on and on till it became a wind!

And sometimes, from a vision-haunted night
I waken at the morning's faintest light,
Or murmur of that gently moving breeze,
Stealing at dawn across the listless trees,
And wander through the forestland, until
I hear the song of Summer from the hill.

GARRICK'S MOBILE FACE

Its Varying Expressions Put Gainsborough in a Fit of Temper.

At an entertainment at which Gainsborough and the famous actor David Garrick were present an ardent admirer of the great artist declared, according to "Bibliothek der Unterhaltung und des Wissens," that Gainsborough had never failed to take a person's likeness in a portrait, no matter how difficult the subject might be. Garrick thereupon asserted that Gainsborough could not paint his likeness and begged to be allowed to sit for his portrait. Gainsborough, pleased at the commission and expecting to find it very interesting to paint the actor's expressive countenance, gladly consented. Garrick then made a secret wager with the artist's friends that he could prove to them that there was one face at least that Gainsborough could not paint.

The results of the first sitting were very satisfactory to the complacent artist. At the second sitting, however, Gainsborough was made uncomfortable and nervous at finding it necessary to make several alterations in his work. At the third sitting his displeasure became extreme when, on comparing the half completed work with Garrick's face, he saw that the two bore so little resemblance to each other that the portrait had almost to be repainted. When Garrick appeared for the fourth time, with the most innocent expression imaginable, and begged the painter to begin work Gainsborough, thoroughly angry, broke out:

"I've no use for you! You can ape thousands of faces and never have one of your own!"

Smiling, Garrick left the studio to announce to the artist's friends that he had won the wager.

WORKS WITH SECRETARY'S AID

In Spite of His Ninety Years H. W. McFadden of Havana, Ill., Attends to Business With Same Vigor That Enabled Him to Build Up One of Largest Estates in County.

Havana, Ill.—H. W. McFadden, who has just returned from a surveying trip to his farms in the eastern part of Mason county, is considered one of the most remarkable business men in this part of the state. Mr. McFadden is ninety years old and is entirely deaf and almost blind. He looks after his business with the same interest and vigor that enabled him to build up one of the largest estates in the county.

All his work is done through a secretary, who must copy all of his letters. This is done with a large black marking crayon in letters two inches high. Not only does he read all his mail in this way, but he is also intensely interested in the European war, and all of the war news from the papers must be copied for him.

Mr. McFadden is a native of New York state and came to Illinois when a young man of twenty-two, without any more than a good education and a sound mind and body. He first settled in Peoria, where he served as county surveyor for six years. In 1862 he came to Havana and built the first elevator here. Five years later he established the Mason County bank, the oldest financial institution in the county, of which he is now the president. A short time later he went to Peoria, where he built the Central City elevator, the first elevator to be built in Peoria. Later he established the system of elevators in Cass, Menard and Mason counties now operated by McFadden & Co., of which his sons, G. C. McFadden and B. H. McFadden, have the controlling interest.

From the very first Mr. McFadden had acquired land whenever he had an opportunity to get a good contract. He started while surveyor of Peoria county and now is the owner of about 3,000 acres in Mason county, as well as thousands of acres of the best land in Kansas, located in Coffey county. He also owns a number of store buildings in Havana, three large buildings in Chicago and extensive town and city property in Waverly and Halls Summit, Kan.

He is one of the most public spirited men in Havana and has been so all his life. He can tell interesting stories of the great political campaigns of the days before the war, when the rival political parties would erect tall poles and have great celebrations around them. Followers of each party in a community would strive to erect a pole taller than the one erected by the rival faction. Poles hundreds of feet high were put up, every man and boy in the community coming out to help.

Again, when the civil war broke out he was a most ardent admirer of the north and tried many times to enlist, but his poor hearing, a family heritage, was against him, and he was refused.

Twice he tried to slip into the ranks and go to the front anyway, but he was sent home each time. Nevertheless, he spent large sums of money for the cause in the north and encouraged all able-bodied men to go and fight for the Union.

SAYS SHRINE CURED HER.

Young Woman Who Had Been an Invalid For Years Now Well.

Lima, O.—Kathleen Daugherty, twenty-one years old, for eleven years an invalid and unable to move about except in a wheeled chair, stepped from a crowd of fully fifty persons. She had been cured, it is said, at the shrine of Our Lady of Consolation at Carey during the annual pilgrimage.

Miss Ella McAuliffe, an aged aunt of the girl, was at the depot. She was the first one to greet the young woman. "Auntie, I'm cured!" cried the girl. The aunt, completely overcome, fainted.

The girl had been unable to move a muscle of her body since a mere child, when she was stricken with paralysis. For two years she was partially blind. She made the pilgrimage to Carey with 700 others from Lima and vicinity. She is cured and apparently permanently so. She left her wheeled chair at the shrine in Carey.

The dog's mistake in selection took place in front of his owner's grocery store, at Sixth street and Pigott avenue. The leg he bit was made of wood.

Days You'll Never Forget

THE DAY YOU WERE ON THE COMMITTEE AT THE HOSE COMPANY'S PICNIC—

WHEN BIRDS MIGRATE.

Yearly Flight of the Wheatear From Africa to Greenland.

In flying from Europe to Africa birds cross the Mediterranean sea at a point where the water is so shallow that it is believed the two continents were formerly connected there. The land bridge, which it is thought formerly guided the birds in their flight, has disappeared, but the habit of crossing at this particular place still remains.

How do you suppose the little wheatear, no larger than a bluebird, formed the habit of migrating from Europe to Greenland? Probably he comes by way of England and Iceland, but at the best it is a long journey and seems to take the bird much farther than it is necessary to go. In the autumn he goes back to winter in Africa.

Doubtless some European water birds visit us every year, but the wheatear, so far as I know, is the only land bird which migrates regularly between North America and Africa. With this exception, no North American land birds leave the western hemisphere in their migrations.

The birds of the western United States are not such great travelers as those of the eastern part of our country. Some of them travel only from the higher parts of the Rocky mountains or Sierras, where they nest, to the low, warm valleys in which they winter.

Those that leave the United States go into Mexico. Some continue their journey as far south as Guatemala, but few go farther south than that. They can, therefore, make their journey overland and so do not encounter the dangers to which many of our eastern migrants are exposed.—Frank M. Chapman in St. Nicholas.

The only satisfactory way of preserving cider in its sweet, fresh state is to treat it the same as grape juice is treated.

Take the cider as it comes from the press and gradually heat to a temperature of 170 to 180 degrees. Care should be taken not to heat it to more than 180 degrees, else the flavor will be harmed. After the temperature has been held at that point for fifteen minutes the juice is bottled at once in clean, airtight bottles that have been previously scalded and are hot when the cider is introduced.

Cork with stoppers that can be pushed into the neck of the bottles a little below the neck of the rim and fill the small cavity with paraffin.—Farm and Fireside.

KEEPING UP TO THE MARK.

"Spring fever" is not always a joke. If you feel dull and sluggish, tired and worn out, suffer from backache or weak back rheumatism, sore muscles, stiff joints or other indication of kidney trouble, it will pay you to investigate Foley Kidney Pills. They are highly recommended as prompt and efficient aid to health. Blackmer & Tanquary.

BIG OUTING PARTY IS NOW ON WAY TO ATLANTIC CITY

Twentieth Annual Outing of the Dahl-Campbell Branch Exceeds All Previous Outing Parties—Some 2000 in Entire Party—Royal Reception Accorded Guests at Plant Here.

The twentieth and by far the greatest outing ever given by the Dahl-Campbell Branch is now on its way to Atlantic City, Washington, D. C. and Philadelphia, where customers and consumers of the concern will enjoy a regal outing, with plenty of opportunity of sight-seeing in the stately cities of the East.

The first section of the outing party left this city at 12:15 Monday afternoon and the other section from this place left fifteen minutes later. At Chillicothe the two sections joined the remainder of the party and also the party from the Moneypen-Hammond Branch of the Midland Grocery Company, of Columbus. The total number of persons in the outing reached about the 2,000 mark, and of the number between 1200 and 1300 are from the Dahl-Campbell Branch of the Midland Grocery Company. The party includes more than 125 persons from this city.

Monday morning more than 600 going from this point assembled at the mammoth plant of the firm where salesmen and office force received them and made them at home, showing them throughout the big buildings, and entertaining them in various ways.

Each salesman was dressed for the outing, and wore a black silk cap bearing his name. All employees wore reception badges and each did his or her part to make the visitors welcome.

Comfortable chairs were provided on the first floor, with girls presiding over punch bowls and serving cool refreshments to the guests.

Everywhere about the building the cleanliness of everything, and the large corps of alert employees, dressed in white, took pleasure in showing the visitors about, and serving a most delicious and elaborate luncheon.

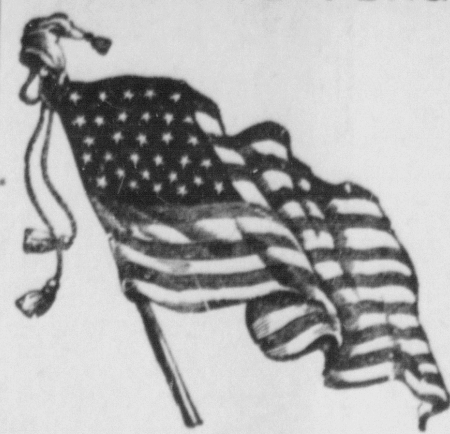

The long tables with snowwhite covers, large vases of fragrant flowers, and tastefully arranged and delicious viands, was decidedly welcome sight to the several hundred guests. This lunch was served by the Company, and Focke's delicious hams, Van Camp's Tuna salad, instantaneous Geo. Washington coffee were among the features of the lunch.

Following the lunch the big party was escorted to the two waiting all-pullman specials, on South Main street, and left promptly at the appointed hour.

Mr. William M. Campbell, who planned and made possible the big outing, is with the company to give his personal attention to the welfare of the party. The salesmen of the company also will give their every attention to insure utmost enjoyment throughout the trip.

The party will return home Saturday afternoon at four o'clock, and a week of rare enjoyment is anticipated by all.

WEAR THE FLAG! TICKETS READY FOR CHAUTAUQUA

Wear it today and every day. Let the city blossom with flags. Let every patriot wear a flag in his lapel. It is the emblem of your patriotism. It symbolizes your emotions in these stirring days. The red is the daring that thrills your blood as men tramp away under the stars and stripes. The white is the purity of national purpose to which your citizenship is dedicated. The blue is the sky in which shine the stars; the stars that are the states of the Union, the states which are sending their sons to serve the Union. Wear it in honor of your country. Your neighbor is marching beneath it. Wear it in his honor. It is your flag. Show your colors! Pin a small flag on your coat. Float a large flag at your home.

GUY HUTSON IS THE TALL MAN IN COMPANY M

New Recruit From Mt. Sterling Measures Six Feet, Four and One-half Inches.

Company M is, judging from some of the recruits, going to make a record for the number of big men enrolled.

Private Caldwell standing straight up six feet and two inches in length is surpassed by the latest addition to the ranks, Guy Huston of Mt. Sterling, who stands 4½ inches above two full yard sticks end on end. In other words Huston is six feet four and one-half inches tall.

Dr. L. P. Howell who made the physical examination of recruit Huston says that he measures up in every way in proportion to his length and is an excellent "good man."

Dr. Howell also states that Company M recruits, all of them, average away up in the physical tests.

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC!

The Washington Band will give a Band Concert at the Empire Theatre Wednesday, June 28th, at 8:00 P. M. The ticket plat will be placed on sale at Leland's News Stand Tuesday morning at 8:00 o'clock. The price of admission will be 25c for any seat in the house.

It has been decided not to make a canvas for sale of tickets before the plat is opened, as a test to see how much the public appreciates the effort to organize a band here that will compare favorably with any in this part of the State, with the object in view of giving weekly open-air concerts during the summer, if a fund can be raised for this purpose.

The Band has succeeded in organizing 25 members for this concert, and has prepared a program that is well worth the price of admission and there are many more good players here that can be secured for the open air concerts if a fund of sufficient size can be raised.

The object of charging for this concert is to raise enough money to pay rent, heat and light and music bills already due, and with which to buy more new and up-to-date music.

The reason other cities can have good bands is because they support them; and whether you believe so or not, it is a fact that Washington C. H. has never supported a band. The band boys have been given to understand that the reason is because they have never organized a good band.

So this year they have made an extra effort and have succeeded in getting together the best band Washington C. H. has ever had, and which will be able to play as well as any band in this part of the State with a little more practice and encouragement.

Now, if you enjoy having weekly open air concerts, and believe them to be a good thing for the town, YOU will do your part to help by coming to the concert Wednesday evening and will contribute to the fund for these concerts that is to be raised later.

The band boys sincerely appreciate what has been done for them in the past, and feel confident that everyone in Washington will do their part this year, and shall endeavor to merit your support.

SEVERELY HURT IN BAD FALL DOWN STAIRS

Photographer A. M. Brown Falls Down an Entire Flight of Stairs Sunday, Cutting His Scalp Severely.

Mr. A. M. Brown, the photographer, was seriously injured Sunday night about 10:00 p. m. by falling down the entire flight of stairs at his home on Hinde street.

Mr. Brown had been lying down reading and started to go into an adjoining room. In passing through the lighted room through the hall which was dark he was unable to see the stairway and made a misstep which plunged him headlong down the stairs. He was picked up unconscious at the bottom of the stairs and remained in that condition about forty-five minutes.

Dr. Ireland responded to a hurry call and dressed the wounds. Six stitches were required to close the cuts on the scalp. The wound was a jagged and irregular one and very hard to close.

Mr. Brown is taking science treatment and is resting easy this morning. No fever or inflammation has set in as yet. However, it will be several days before Mr. Brown will be able to resume his business duties.

COMPANY "M" MAY DEPART TUESDAY A. M.

Captain Hardway, while not yet officially advised, is expecting orders to move Company M to the mobilization camp at Columbus tomorrow, Tuesday.

The enlistments have now brought the total strength of the company up to ninety-three.

Private McCafferty—who has been missing since the issuance of the call for mobilization, reported this morning. No action has yet been taken in his case.

CHURCH SERVICE FOR GUARDSMEN WELL ATTENDED

Sunday was a day charged with unusual seriousness and feeling. Before the dawn of another Sabbath it was feared that the boys of Company M, O. N. G., would be on their way to service—the appalling service that is demanded when patriotism calls to the battlefield—and the whole town awakened to the stress of conditions.

Tinged with both pathos and patriotism was the sight which presented itself as Company M marched down the main streets to the Presbyterian church for a special evening service in their honor. The "boys of '61," with a deeper realization of what the call to arms meant, acted as escort.

Company M was seated in the center of the auditorium in front of a huge flag which extended across the pulpit platform.

Patriotic songs rose in splendid volume as the audience joined with the choir and there were short addresses by Chaplain Nier and Rev. Wm. Boynton Gage.

Chaplain Nier impressed the solemnity of present conditions and drew his own experience in a brief and most heartsome little talk to the boys.

Rev. Gage dwelt specially on the dangers of camp life and the subtle enemies found there; urging the men in khaki seated before him to be true, stalwart men, as well as soldiers.

Mr. Jaques, an Assembly Singer, sang: "Church in the Valley," the audience joining in the chorus—the number a touching one.

It was an effective scene when Rev. Gage, on behalf of the session, presented each member of the company a testament.

Second Lieutenant Curtiss made appreciative response for the boys. The church was crowded.

Sunday morning Company M attended divine services at Grace M. E. church.

Second Lieutenant Curtiss addressed the Men's Class and so great was the interest that the basement proved inadequate and all adult classes came together in the church auditorium to enjoy the speaker's excellent talk. Just a year ago Lieutenant Curtiss had come up from Greenfield with the Men's Class and spoken under very different circumstances. He mingled with the lesson review the lesson of the present need. It was not a question of "wanting to go" with the boys; it was the necessity which demanded response to the defense of the nation.

At half past ten o'clock the National Guards were seated in the center of the auditorium to listen to a fine address by Rev. J. A. Rutledge D. D. of Cleveland.

The dominant theme of the address was that the church possessed the key which unlocks everything fundamental in the great moral issues of civilization.

Miss Edith Gardner sang "The Star Spangled Banner," and the great audience rose to swell the chorus till it rang gloriously through the church.

The morning's temperance collection was $125.

Rev. John Rutledge D. D., a borthor, preached a splendid sermon at the Presbyterian church Sunday morning and also addressed the Men's Bible Class of the Sunday school in his own inimitable way.

The day's subject of temperance fitted in well with the special interest of the nation's crisis—the fight along temperance lines being waged continuously and with the same zeal called forth by the throes of the nation.

In Social Circles

As a parting favor to the guests of Misses Lillian Davis and Dorothy Fullerton, Mr. Virgil Perrill entertained with an old fashioned barn dance at the beautiful country home of the Perrills on the Devalon Road Saturday evening.

Although this unique party was a departure from the customary form of diversion in Washington social circles, the guests entered with zest into the spirit of the affair. Miss Ada Woodward and Mr. Burris Tharp led the "Virginia Reel," in which all participated with great hilarity. The original barn dance was another feature of the evening.

The spacious hayloft in which the dance was given was decorated with American flags and the lighting system was a number of auto lamps in the different corners of the room, producing a weird spotlight effect on the dancers below.

The music, played with a "gerry dance" swing, by a group of wandering artists, characteristically of "the old school," had a distinct rural flavor. The interpretation of "The Irish Washerwoman," "Turkey in the Straw" and "Dixie" will be long remembered by the Terpsichorean repellers.

Brick ice-cream and home made angel cake, bountifully served, were welcome refreshments to the guests who found that strenuous barn dancing produced a "harvest hand's" appetite.

Mr. and Mrs. James Perrill and Mrs. John Shoop (nee Miss Ruth Perrill, of Chicago, assisted in the serving.

The lively chaperons, Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Ballard and Mr. and Mrs. Horace Ireland, contributed much to the success of the dancing party.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Baker, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Hughes, and baby, of Madison Mills, Mr. Bert Chaffin and son Carl, were guests at an enjoyable dinner entertained by Mr. and Mrs. George Sturgeon, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Val McCoy and Mr. Howard Heglar entertained at a family dinner Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Marion Gibson of Springfield; Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson of Wilmington; Mr. and Mrs. H. V. Rodgers, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Rodgers, Mr. Roy Hagler and family, Miss Mary Robinson, Mr. Arthur Staubs.

There was a most delightful gathering of friends and neighbors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kearney on the Chillicothe pike, Sunday to surprise Mrs. Kearney upon her 69th birthday.

Everybody brought well filled baskets and the picnic spread was in a class by itself, with everything in the line of picnic delicacies included.

Mrs. Kearney thoroughly appreciated the good wishes and interest of so many friends.

Miss Helen Lemons gave several entertaining readings during the afternoon.

The party included: Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Lemons and family, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Smith and family, Mrs. Lena Backenstoe and grandson (Waleo Patton, Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Smith and family, Mrs. Frank Myers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Kearney, Mr. and Mrs. Ruthford Grover, Mr. and Mrs. Bert McCoy, Mrs. Lida Smith and son William, Mrs. Margaret Wright, Mr. Charley McArtney, Miss Elsie Davis, Mrs. Janet Cline Rosebone, Mr. and Mrs. L. AUSTRIAN FORCES IN RETREAT

Whole of Bukovina Now In Russian Hands.

MANY PRISONERS TAKEN

Bombardment On Both Sides of the Meuse, In the Verdun Sector, Continues With Unabated Vigor. French Retake Trenches Lost Northeast of the Fortress—Operations On Other Fronts.

London, June 26.—The whole of the Austrian province of Bukovina is now in the hands of the Russians, according to a Petrograd dispatch.

The Austro-Hungarian forces are said to be making their way toward the Carpathian passes.

Kimpolung, in the southern part of Bukovina, has been occupied by the Russians and the Austrians have fallen back between that town and Jakobeny and to the northwest have evacuated the heights south of Betermetti and Wiznic.

Along the River Pruth, in their drive toward Kolomea, the Russians have captured Wilischoff and Toulou-noff. The Austrians lost heavily in men taken prisoners and in war stores left behind in the retreat.

In Volhynia Petrograd records the capture of a redoubt near Czartorysk, the repulse of attacks southwest of Lutsk and an advance north of Radziviloff, while Berlin reports the putting down of Russian attacks to the east of Vladimir-Volynski and west of Dubno. Heavy fighting continues throughout this entire region.

The French, during attacks Saturday night, recaptured from the Germans trenches west of the Thiaumont redoubt northeast of Verdun and also made some progress in the village of Fleury, according to the war office communication.

The bombardment on both sides of the Meuse continued without interruption. There also was pronounced artillery activity between the British and Germans on the British portion of the Franco-Belgian line.

In the Posina region and south of Arsiero, in the Austro-Italian theater, the Italians have attacked and driven back the Austrians at several points. In the Adige and Brenta sectors the Austrians again have increased in volume their artillery fire.

In fighting between the Turks and Russians the Ottoman forces drove out the Russians from a convent in the region of Djivizlyk, but later were compelled, under a violent counter attack to withdraw.

State Troops Building Pontoon Bridges

Regular army tactics are followed by the national guard in building pontoon bridges. This is an important feature of warfare, particularly with an invading army in a country such as Mexico.

SEE WORK WRONG

Suffrage, Red Cross and Settlement Adherents Toil, She Says.

DEBUTANTE UNDER ILLUSION.

Miss Josephine Miller, Who, With Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, Established Red Cross Service In France, Finds Women Nobler Than She Thought. Sights Inspired Her.

St. Louis.—There are scores of things a woman can do these days that sound like poetry and work like prose. There's the New York settlement service that Fifth avenue bridge players love to think would be "perfectly fascinating;" there's the Red Cross service that suggests "reams of romance" for the debutante; there's the old reliable woman's suffrage, and it, you know, is a "wonderful cause."

But, take it from a woman who has done all of these things, the fascination, the romance and the wonder lose their glamour when it comes right down to the everyday hard work.

Miss Josephine Miller, who returned from the Ambulance Americaine in Paris to represent the Arkansas Equal Suffrage league at the recent Democratic national convention, has forgotten to look for romance—she's busy loving women.

Miss Miller spent a year in New York social settlement work and found that the women of the east side were real women, and she learned to love them for their courage. Last September she sailed with Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney, daughter of Cornelius Vanderbilt, to establish Red Cross service in France. She was impressed with the woman's side of war. When she returned last month it was the woman's side of politics that caught her enthusiasm. And, though she is in her early twenties, she's the right hand bower of the woman's cause in Arkansas.

"I always believed Joan of Arc was a fairy tale," she said. "I always believed it was impossible for a woman to inspire men and to lead an army. But when I saw those women of France, working in the fields, running the trains, keeping the shops—when I stood on the battlefield of the Marne and saw them plowing and sowing seed among the graves of their husbands and sons I saw something finer in women, something nobler than I had ever dreamed of. They seemed to be all daughters of Joan of Arc, who in their weeds of black were leading a greater army to their faith and optimism."

When Miss Miller, with Mrs. Whitney, came to France they chose as the only available location for their ambulance an old monastery of the eleventh century. They put hot water and electricity into the monastery with its eleven foot walls; they transformed the old ruins into a modern hospital which relieved the suffering of 500 soldiers. They worked from sunup to sundown and forgot the romance as well as the horrors.

With the Vanderbilt resources they hired servants from deserted hotels and gave service and conveniences to the wounded which were not found, perhaps, elsewhere in France. They cared for the soldiers, made friends with them and nursed them back to health. Some of Miss Miller's most interesting reminiscences center about the private soldiers who are willing to give everything to their country. Many of them write letters back to the Ambulance expressing their appreciation of the kindness of the American women.

Miss Miller came back last fall, and she has been doing some live things in the suffrage work, national as well as local.

10,000 BEES LOOSE IN WOMEN'S BALLROOM

Apiarist Turns Out Swarm Before Club Members, but No Stings Follow.

Cleveland, O.—In the nursery story the queen sat in the parlor eating bread and honey, but even Mother Goose never saw 10,000 bees loose in a ballroom.

But the latter sight was seen recently when Ernest R. Root of Medina, bee and honey expert, shook out a swarm of bees into the white and gold ballroom of the Woman's club, this city, to show members of the club how easily the little honey makers may be handled if one knows how.

There were swift glances toward the door when Mr. Root proposed to open the little case that held the bees. "Don't be in the least afraid. They will not sting you even if they should happen to light on you," promised Mr. Root.

He scooped up a handful of the bees out of the thick, moving brown mass, put them in his hat, clapped his hat on his head and went on with his talk.

CATTLE FEAR DOG.

Herd Ran Over a Horse and Buggy In Their Terror.

Arlington, Ky.—E. W. Benson of Bardwell had a novel experience the other day. While driving along the road out of Barlow, Mr. Benson saw a herd of yearlings ahead of him turn into a lane. In a few seconds he also noticed a dog sneaking in the direction of the cattle.

The dog made a dive for the herd, and they made a run for the road, arriving there just as Mr. Benson drove up, and the cattle ran over the horse and buggy, knocked the horse down and came near turning the buggy over. In their mad haste to get away from the dog one of the calves fell, going under the buggy. Mr. Benson says this is the first time he has ever run over by a herd of cattle.

Why He Preferred It.

"Well, how do you like my new gown?"

"Not nearly so well as your old one, my dear."

"What is there about the old gown you like better than this?"

"The old one is paid for, my dear."—Detroit Free Press.

TWO BEDS REQUIRED FOR A GIANT BOY

Prisoner Measuring Six Feet Four Was Cause of Worry to New York Children's Society.

New York.—Children's society officials had all kinds of trouble with fifteen-year-old Theodore Olsen, who stands six feet four inches in his socks. This young giant had not been able to find a bed in the place that would fit him. He had been sleeping in two beds placed together, with the cover pieces out. Subterfuge had been discovered to make Theodore fit one of the children's bathtubs or to find one to fit him.

Olsen was arrested after he had called the janitor of an apartment house here to help him extinguish a blaze that he admits he started in the dumb-waiter shaft. He says he had started five similar fires in the upper west side, but had always extinguished them himself, because his desire was not to see the engines dash by, but just to see the blaze.

Theodore left school because of the embarrassment caused by his abnormal size. He became a delivery boy for a grocer, and he says that after delivering an order on the dumbwaiter he would start a blaze at the bottom of the shaft among the old papers and other waste that he frequently found there. Theodore lives with his parents in this city.

MAY BOYCOTT A DEADBEAT.

Merchants of Topeka, Kan., Plan to Organize For That Purpose.

Topeka, Kan.—Attorney General S. M. Brewster has announced a ruling that the merchants of a city or the state could form a trust or order a boycott against the deadbeat. The Topeka merchants have worked out a scheme whereby each merchant is to make a report monthly of his customers who do not pay regularly or have not satisfactorily adjusted their accounts.

These reports are then to be forwarded to every other merchant in the local association, and they are to refuse credit to any of those on the blacklist.

There are some lawyers who have held that the merchants could not form an association to boycott the deadbeat without violating the anti-trust laws. The plan of the Topeka organization was submitted to the attorney general, and he has advised the merchants that such an organization would be legal.

The Difficulty.

BLANCHESTER THE WINNER IN CLOSE GAME

Local Team, With Shifted Line-up
Plays Visitors a Close Eleven
Inning Game and Then Lost
Because Old Tough Luck Looked In.

A good sized crowd journeyed to Athletic Park Sunday afternoon and witnessed a fast ball game with the local team holding the short end of a 3 to 1 contest (11 innings) with Blancheester.

Both Snow, for the locals, and Moon for the visitors, on the hurling mound, did excellent work, both going the entire eleven frames.

In the seventh inning Snow retired the side on strikes.

The Blancheester bunch is gathered up over a wide radius of territory and is the pick of the talent available. They are a fast and "heady" bunch. The few errors made by the locals were costly.

The Athletics scored the first run in the fourth. Grandle, first up, singled. Noon sent a long fly to right, Grandle going to second. Frantz singled sharply past short, scoring Grandle with the sole run of the game for the home team.

The visitors tied it up in the fifth. Hudson, first up, singled. Whittier hit to the infield, a fumble by Snow left both runners safe with Hudson on second. Boles singled scoring Hudson.

There was nothing doing then until the 11th and the blow-off came like this.

Ross, first up, slammed a long one to center which A. Grandle after a hard run touched but couldn't hold Ross pulling up at second.

Turner then made an infield hit landing safe on first. Ross taking third.

The infield then moved up close and Turner was out at second trying to steal.

Roudebush singled past short scoring Ross, "Roudy" taking second on the field in. Hudson then singled to left which Noon had difficulty in fielding while "Roudy" scored from second. Art Grandle then retired the side by two brilliant catches in center.

It was a good game to see and a tough one to lose.

The visitors out hit the locals by one bingle. Sensational fielding cut off several scores. Roudebush robbed Frantz of a clean home run by one of the most sensational catches ever made.

The local line-up was shifted by inability of "Nip" Jones to play. Adams, of right, was moved to second and substitute catcher Allen went to right field.

But no alibi is necessary. Jones was missed but the boys put up a fine game.

Special scenery and lighting effects are carried and a treat for those that enjoy good singing for this company as a charming Loubretts in Pearl Derby, whose singing always sets the boys whistling most of the songs the show uses. Good comedy is also in vogue by Gibson & Howard, these two clever comedians put their material over with a swing and pep, which gets the house, from the rise of the curtain without resorting to smut or any objectionable remarks which is so often used. The show is for ladies as well as the gents and for those that like wooden shoe dancing a big treat is in store. AUSTRIANS ABANDON OFFENSIVE

Verdun Fight Is Regarded as in Crucial Stage—New Assaults Made Last Night.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

The Austrians have definitely abandoned their offensive in the southern Tyrol and are falling back according to today's report with the Italians in vigorous pursuit.

The Verdun battle is now at a crucial stage and was continued last night with new assaults by the Germans west of Thiaumont.

The French artillery and infantry fire completely stopped the attempt of the Germans to advance.

Probably preparatory to an effort to bring their lines west of the Meuse up to the east bank, the Germans are vigorously bombarding French positions in the former sector.

Eight English vessels of light craft are reported to have been sunk in the last ten hours.

ERECT DEFENSES

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Naco, Arizona, June 26.—United States soldiers are engaged in the erection of a line of breastworks in a northeasterly direction near the border from the United States emigration office.

This action was taken following the receipt of reports considered authentic that 1500 Mexican troops have arrived within a few miles of Naco, Sonora.

The American defenses are being constructed of sand bags.

EMPIRE STATE BOYS LEAVE

By Associated Press Dispatch.

New York, June 26.—The movement of National Guard troops from the Department of the East toward the Mexican border will begin today, in response to the appeal of Secretary of War Baker to Major General Wood urging him to start the troops south as soon as ready.

Fourteen regiments have been ordered to entrain at once and will start before night.

Pennsylvania troops also have been ordered to entrain.

CASEMENT TRIAL

(Associated Press Cable).

London, June 26.—Sir Rodger Casement, former English diplomat, accused of inciting the Irish rebellion and negotiating with Germany for aid for the rebellion, today went on trial in the High Court of Justice charged with high treason.

After much difficulty, the jury was secured, from which all men wearing ensigns of English army service were barred.

The nature of the defense is carefully guarded, but it is denied that Sir Rodger will throw himself on the mercy of the court.

By Associated Press Dispatch.

Warren, O., June 26.—Two men, driving a stolen automobile loaded with stolen tires, are believed to be hiding in a barn in the outskirts of Ravenna today, after shooting Policeman Strook early this morning and staging two revolver battles with farmers in the woods near Ravenna and with officers on the main street of the town.

Poses formed by the sheriffs of Trumbull and Portage counties have surrounded the place in an attempt to capture the fugitives.

It is also indicated that these troops are taking stations at strategic points along a line well south of the border, railroad junctions allowing of the rapid handling of troops or where the topography of the country permits strong defense.
